The American Language Center (ALC), a well-regarded English school at Bloomfield College, guides international students through an educational experience that transcends the classroom and prepares them to use English among native speakers in real situations. Students are taught by highly qualified and experienced ESL instructors in small classes of 12 students. Smaller classes allow students to develop their English grammar, writing, and communication skills with personal, individualized attention from our ALC instructors.

Our teachers have graduate degrees and years of experience teaching ESL around the globe. They understand the difficulties of learning English and through effective teaching methods are able to motivate students to move to higher levels. Our faculty is welcoming and goes beyond the classroom to assist students in their transition to school in the United States. In each level, students learn about American culture and customs, enhancing their English comprehension.

Our curriculum is based on an integrated approach. We offer level appropriate instruction, which is blended with listening/speaking, reading/writing, and pronunciation. With six levels of instruction, students can actively meet their English learning challenges, perform academic and everyday reading/writing and speaking/listening tasks, and advance rapidly in their comprehensive English skills.

At each level students are assessed to identify areas of weakness, allowing instructors to customize a learning plan for each student. The ALC program consists of 6 levels, which can be completed in about 12 months. In addition to improving their English language skills, at each level students learn about different aspects of American society through texts, movies, music and news broadcasts.
